England's Happiness
OR, A Health to the Young Prince
OF WALES.

The Tune : Now, now, the Fight's done.

NOW, Now the Works done,
Fove's Musick Proclaimes, From the Walls on the Tower, and the Fleet on the Thames.
Thump, Thump, goes the Guns, and the Bells keeps their time, Musick nere sweeter on Danub nor Rhine.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*

Three Kingdoms long bleeding,
hath now found a Cure,
From the King of Kings, which our hopes doth insure :
Our loud Acclamations,
with heart and with voice,
The Universe Ecco's,
the Angels rejoyce.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*

From all Parts of Europe, they Envoys prepare ,
To welcom our King ,
to his young Princely Heir,
With Homage in hopes,
that he may live to Sway,
And Succeed his Father Just, in the Right way.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*

The Sphears with swift Motion, in Harmony meet,
With loud Acclamation, and Guns from the Fleet.
All Hearts Animated,
that none can Express.
With true Emmulation, and Joy to Excess.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*

The Gallexy Flames,
with a new Milky Way,
Where the Gods sit in Council,
to Crown this blest day,
The true Extacy,
and the the Union of Souls, Through the whole Univerſe ;
and extends to the Poles.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*

With a hearty round Health, to the King, Queen and Prince, Let's Pray for a Tork, and a Gloceſter from thence ,
And a sweet Duke of Lancaſter, ere we conclude,
To Crown all our bleſſing ;
and puſh by all doubt.

*We have gain'd a new Conquest,
good Prayers prevails,
The Foy's of three Kingdoms,
a Young Prince of Wales.*
